

an•ti•fa Daryle Lamont Jenkins. Daryle is a special friend of DangerousIdeas Collective and the person who introduced most of our collective members to antifascist work. Daryle is an American political activist, best known for founding One People's Project, an organization based in New Brunswick, New Jersey. Jenkins serves as its Executive Director. Jenkins has been documenting and writing about right wing individuals and organizations since 1988, while he was still serving in the Air Force as a police officer. In 2000, he founded One People's Project out of a counter-protest to a rally in Morristown, New Jersey by Richard Barrett of the Nationalist Movement, and the organization gained a reputation of publicly documenting hate groups, and their activities, a practice known today as doxing. In addition, Jenkins has also gained a reputation for helping neo-Nazis leave those circles behind, among them Bryon Widner, whose story was featured in the documentary Erasing Hate which has been turned into a feature-length motion picture titled Skin starring Jamie Bell, Danielle Macdonald, Vera Farmiga and Mike Colter playing Jenkins. The movie made its world premiere at the 2018 Toronto International Film Festival.

an•ti•fa Sophie Scholl was a German student and anti-Nazi political activist, active within the White Rose non-violent resistance group in Nazi Germany. She was convicted of high treason after having been found distributing anti-war leaflets at the University of Munich (LMU) with her brother, Hans. As a result, she was executed by guillotine. Since the 1970s, Scholl has been extensively commemorated for her anti-Nazi resistance work.
